

Life-saving socket

When the house is on fire and full of heavy smoke, the best way for evacuating is to crawl along the corner. Sometimes, it is difficult for people to find the way out when they are best. Life-saving socket is designed to solve this problem. Originally, it is a socket for electrical appliances. When a fire occurs, the socket will be flipped over and the LED on the top will indicate the direction for evacuating.

亞洲
UNIVER